

MARGINALITY

SPRING 2018

Thursday, March 8

"Between Nativity and Diaspora: Multiculturalism and Exclusion in a Post-Racial Era"

Nicole Thornton, Political Science, Johns Hopkins
Mergenthaler 366, 4:15-5:45 pm

**co-sponsored with the Dept. of Political Science*

Monday, March 12

"The Transpacific Western: Indigeneity, Law, Race and Violence in the Frontiers of the U.S. and Japan"

Takashi Fujitani, History, University of Toronto
Mergenthaler 526, 12:00-1:30 pm

**co-sponsored with East Asian Studies*

Monday, March 12

"Drugs, Politics, and Pariahs: Or How to Think About Race & Harm Reduction in an Opioid Epidemic"

Samuel K. Roberts, Jr., History, Columbia University
East Reading Room, Welch Library, 3:00-4:30 pm
Johns Hopkins Medical School Campus

**co-sponsored with History of Medicine*

Thursday, April 5

"Fugitive Democracy, Transformative Sanctuary and the Radical Reformation of Political Space in an Age of Displacement"

Romand Coles, Institute for Social Justice,
Australian Catholic University
Mergenthaler 366, 4:15-5:45 pm

**co-sponsored with the Dept. of Political Science*

Thursday, April 12

"Afterlives of Empire: A Symposium on History, Family, and Fiction in Min Jin Lee's Pachinko"

With Min Jin Lee, Alyssa Park (University of Iowa), Jenny Wang Medina (Rutgers University), Yumi Kim (Johns Hopkins University), and Erin Chung (Johns Hopkins University)

Charles Commons Salon A, 1:30-4:00 pm
**co-sponsored with East Asian Studies*

Friday-Saturday, April 13-14

"(Re)Conceptualizing Displacement"

RIC's Seventh Annual Graduate
Student Conference
Location TBD

Thursday, May 3

"Political Insulation and the Comparative Politics of Immigration: A Theoretical Framework"

Antje Ellermann, Political Science, University of British Columbia

Mergenthaler 366, 4:15-5:45 pm

**co-sponsored with the Dept. of Political Science*